Frank C. Hauser is a person without borders. This concerns his residences, his art and other activities. Hauser lives anywhere and nowhere. Artistic disciplines he puts into practice are – among other things – painting and designing jewellery and cinematographical surroundings. Frank studied at der Hochschule für Bildende Künste in Wien, School of Art Institute Chicago and Wayne State University, Chicago and had exhibitions all around the world. His art opens a world of symbolism and refers to occult and art historical traditions. He is not a magical realist nor a surrealist, but he calls himself a ‘magical surrealist’. His artwork can be classified as ‘technological surrealism’.
